

Unicorn Brings the Right Ingredients to IBA

Unicorn Ingredients will be returning this year to Europe's biggest bakery trade show, IBA, taking place in Munich from 15 to 20 September.

UK-based Unicorn will be displaying a broad range of seeds and grains, including sesame and pumpkin seeds as well as poppy seeds at the international trade show. Also at show will be pre-mixes for bread and biscuits and specialist ingredients for eco and organic bakery products.

The company supplies a varied range of premium quality seeds and specialist products around the world and has contract cleaning and blending facilities in Europe.

Joint MD Frank Horan says that Unicorn will be at IBA to talk to customers and potential customers as they develop their product offerings. He comments:

“As we continue to expand, our strong global relationships with producers and our intelligent approach to the supply chain means that you can rely on us to make sure that your business has a consistent supply of premium quality, traceable ingredients.”

Unicorn has the highly-regarded BRC for Agents & Brokers certification as well as Soil Association organic certification, so its customers can enjoy total confidence in its products, he says.

Product and service quality are paramount. Unicorn has a highly sophisticated global supply chain, with preferred partners in each of the 34 countries it operates in. These are rigorously approved before it starts doing business with them.

The company has a German office in Ibbenbueren in North Rhine Westphalia, as well as offices in India and China. All international offices are staffed by local experts who speak their native languages as well as English.

We are exhibiting at IBA 2018: Meet with us at stand A4.57

If you would like to diarise a meeting, please email info@unicorningredients.com